

Werry Workforce WHĀRAURAU

invite you to attend our

National Training Day for Trauma-Informed Care

an event for mental health professionals working in Aotearoa

Friday, 9th November 2018
Wellington

Highlights

Associate Professor Nicola Atwool

Associate Professor Nicola Atwool from the University of Otago will talk about how to work with children and whānau with a trauma history, and how important it is to work in a trauma-informed environment when supporting whānau in order to look after ourselves in the process.

Resilience: The Biology of Stress & The Science of Hope

Childhood experiences, both positive and negative, have a tremendous impact on future lifelong health and opportunity. As such, early experiences are an important public health issue and a cross-government issue. Much of the foundational research in this area has been referred to as Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). ACEs can be prevented and resilience can be learnt. To watch a preview of this documentary by Jamie Redford please click here.

To register, please visit:

<http://www.werryworkforce.org/professionals/training-and-events/national-training-day-trauma-informed-care>

Enquiries: l.barker@auckland.ac.nz